"No one can find fault with Mr. Mc-nna's clear and logical conclusions— ath — facts — expediency — all these int the way. But the inevitable denouement falls with a heavy hand upon France. France has spent up to now 90,000,000,000 of francs on the rehabilitation of her devastated regions, and the deficit of her seneral budget amounts to upward of 4,000,000,000 francs.

"Better Things Ahead."

In closing Mr. Krech said the future holds for the American investor countless attractive opportunities which, as time goes on, he cannot afford to neglect, "if once Europe gets together or safe, sane and practical lines.

"That such a movement is going on on the Continent." he continued, "is without question. There are innumer able instances where these silent forces—constructive, friendly, cooperative—are actively at work. A loan to Austring guaranteed by her former enemies; German group coming together in an effort to effectuate on a practical basis the reparations in kind; the Soviet Government to recognizing the vested right of a Brilling corporation; Austrian banks recession States, are facts which show that Europe is fast coming back to her series.

"From the cultural point of view. America give up her yearning for the European shores. America must keep sours, the legends of the old countries, can never give up her yearning for the European shores. America must keep faith with Europe must do her part and keep faith with herself."
